

ACTIVIST ALERT

Something went very wrong with the Tax Cuts and Jobs Act. Republican congressional leaders promised that it would result in more jobs and higher wages. AT&T CEO Randall Stephenson said that AT&T would invest at least $1 billion and create 7,000 new jobs.

Instead AT&T ran away with a $21 billion tax break, cut nearly 12,000 jobs, and keeps sending jobs overseas and to low-paid contractors. AT&T is increasing executive pay and rewarding large shareholders instead of investing in our communities.

During bargaining, we have asked AT&T for information about what they are doing with the tax cut and what jobs they have offshored and outsourced. The company has refused to provide this information.

That's why we're demanding a Congressional investigation to find out what AT&T and other corporations are actually doing with their tax cut windfall.

CWA members like you have been making a big impact by delivering handwritten letters to members of Congress demanding an investigation and sharing your personal stories. Today, CWA President Chris Shelton testified at a Congressional committee hearing on the tax bill. He read from some of those letters and described the impact of AT&T's job cuts on you and your families.

That's a start, but it's not enough. Congress needs to ask Randall Stephenson and other CEOs to testify so that we can understand exactly what these corporations did with their tax windfall and find out the truth behind these job cuts.

We all know that CWA members are the ones who keep this company running. We deserve fair contracts and family-supporting jobs and will keep up the fight until we get them.
